Translated by the Air League of the British Empire, from the French, of Henri Michel.

To those who dream of having wings—
To the memory of those who have loved them so greatly.

INTRODUCTION

One ambition has been my driving force during these last few years—to spread abroad to the friends and the results obtained in following out my ideal, The Practice of Aviation. In 1928, following my experiments, in which I was beaten by the weather, I decided to sound public opinion in order to gauge the volume of an interest that I suspected. The result was that I wrote a few articles in the papers, and then a book in which I explained how, with only small financial means, and but a small audience, I had with my own hands built my small plane.

This book, in a determined amateur way, was produced myself. Each page was written and drawn by my pen and then photographed. These negatives, assembled on boards, in a certain order, reproduced on glass, were lithographed, printed, and "off." A friendly editor loaned the printing machine and the sheets were printed on a hand press. A short time but a life spent in hard exercises. A proved formula.

What have I to fear? The failure of my campaign? Oh, well, I can't help it; it has got out of hand. It is no longer I, the one who makes the noise, but the force which swells of which am but an echo, and which is everywhere. And I proclaim this force to be more numerous than ever, others better instructed than I, and more qualified in science, in the art of the air, sleep in a stagnation which seems to me to be the death of progress.

Each one can help to prevent tuberculosis by looking after his own general health, covering his nose when coughing, and by avoiding smoking, and by supporting the health organizations which work for the good health of all.

Long Live the Sport of the Air!
I go right ahead and listen to no one. Will my idea succeed? How many, also, will be with me? It is not possible. Even if something resembling an aeroplane were to come, what would it do? What will happen? This edition vanishes in a day.

A second edition, quite large this time, comes out in a year, without other publicity than a small notice received from time to time in a single periodical. The first edition, though the last copy has been gone some time, I am still receiving orders for it. The movement has started. The great majority of everyone—I feel myself carried on the shoulders of a multitude of friends.

The results obtained, the evolution of the movement, the progress made following trials in the field, the correspondence from my readers (which keep me fully occupied) guarantee that from this something must come. That I have been working on a new edition for three years.

The volume is substantial. The old arrangement, the work of an amateur, will not do. A real book—such a book—a real book—which is needed, presented in accordance with the resources of mass printing. Will it cost more? It doesn't matter, it is not a paper merchant. In order to be read, I must keep within the reach of the average reader, guided by the very stout conviction that something must come out of it.

The theme is large. It takes many words to evolve ideas. I admit humbly that I am not a clear thinker, but the "how's" and the "because" lead the "why's" and the "wherefore" to the "where." And I say all that I think and I give the details of what is to be told, but shall limit myself to one single type of disease, and not now the moment to try things out and to experiment indefinitely. If you follow me to the end you will manage to understand me, and if you do not, I only wish to have your confidence. Believe what I may say! This hook is not the love romance of a naughty little boy, but it is the truth as I have lived. It has been suffered. You will have no need of queries. I have detailed the ways in which I have given myself, and my reputation may suffer. I will be accused of a swollen head. But I have got it off my chest.

The first thing to happen between the lines some immature ideas; since then these have become realities. It is no longer necessary to guess my deepest intentions. I have said all that I can by word. Today I say all that I think and I give the details of what is to be told, but shall limit myself to one single type of disease, and not now the moment to try things out and to experiment indefinitely. The fruits have not yet been gathered, but the main fruit is ripe. Since it is necessary that the amateur should fly without difficulty, I should try to furnish him with more precise instructions. Readers, my correspondents, there are many of you who are of my way of thinking, you have the same means of information and thusism. You have demanded this book of me. Here it is.

The Flying Flea, No. 1, began on the 6th of August, 1933, took off from the ground on the 6th of September. After three months of adjustment in the open, it came back to the workshop in good order after ten hours of flight—not ten hours of cruising in body secretions coming from the mouth and nose are the most dangerous disease spreaders, may we hope that effective means will be taken to prevent passage from one person to another?

Those who know they have tuberculosis—if they have been taught, and are able to make use of the great advantage of training in a sanatorium, take such precautions as will protect them with whom they come in contact. To those who are going about their ordinary lives and work, who have tuberculosis but do not know it; if they are not taking any special care.

EAGLESHAM NEWS

E.P.A. Ann'l Meet Well Attended And Much Work Done

EAGLESHAM, Jan. 6.—The annual meeting of the Eagleham Progressive Association was held on Saturday, January 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Powers. About 100 interested cold weather a good attendance was recorded. The executives for the coming year are as follows:

President—Albert Audet.

Vice-President—W. H. Campbell.

Second Vice-Pres.—Joe Haeseler.

Treasurer—Orville Forget.

Secretary—John L. Gosselin.

A board of directors, to be increased as occasion warrants it, was also appointed and at present consists of Wm. J. Warner, Fox Creek; and J. Reynolds, St. Paul. All committee appointments being subject to their acceptance.

Plans for the erection of a community hall this summer were discussed and a building committee under the capable direction of Joe P. Sauve was formed. The cost of the building, hewing and hauling of logs to the proposed building site, very kindly donated by Hane Skauge.

The community hall will fill a great need in our community life. The logs will be hauled out immediately and the construction of the building will take place immediately after Sports Day.

Plans for a bigger and better Sports Day were also formulated and the following committee was appointed with Al Powers as chairman: Tom Desgagne, Eddy Girard, W. H. Campbell, and Wm. J. Warner.

Once more proving his fine community spirit, Orville Forget donated free for the sports four acres of land, the first year we have had a new and fifty per cent larger than the last year. By December 21, also they are still frequenting their summer haunts but the cold spell might make them yard.

A fine spirit of enthusiasm and optimism prevails among our young folk and Eagleham is on the road to great things.

ATTEND FOX CREEK DANCE

A happy crowd journeys to Fox Creek schoolroom on New Year's Eve to enjoy the Leap Year dance sponsored by the Community Club there.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Forget, Mr. and Mrs. A. Audet, and Wehlold Bolduc spent New Year's Day at Rahab, guests of Mrs. Girard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Diodore and children celebrated New Year's with Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Ditcham family.

Raoul Soucoup, M. Schakoh and Ruby were "radio" guests at the home of O. Forget on Thursday, January 2.

We had just put thoughts of Christmas away for one more year when we were delightfully surprised with an invitation to participate in the Ukrainian folk dancing feature, which commenced on January 7. Just as our cease.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Audet, Frank Rocheau, and Andre Lessard visited with Al and Mrs. Powers on Friday evening.

We noticed Joe Sauve, Frank Rocheau and Albert Audet braving the weather to come to see the proposed site for the new hall and choose the best.

A big woodpile and a cheery fire help a lot to keep Jack Frost at bay these days, but we hope he takes the notion to return whence he came pretty soon.

GORDONDALE

CHRISTMAS CONCERT GOOD

GORDONDALE, Dec. 23.—A very enjoyable time was spent by all who participated in the Christmas tree lighting and caroling on Sunday evening sponsored by Mrs. M. Kolesky and Mrs. F. Menzies. The chair was occupied by Mr. A. Petrait, and Mr. A. Petrait was in charge for the dance.

The program was veryably rendered by the children and due prizes especially as much of the talent shown had to be developed. One item was very noteworthy, a song entitled "Covetous" by Mr. Lloyd Nellis which drew commendation from many for the pleasing way he sang it and his good voice.

WHY SAWMILL RAN ON SUNDAY

Mrs. D. Menzies and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crampton, all members of the Sawmill Committee being subject to their acceptance.

Plans for the erection of a community hall this summer were discussed and a building committee under the capable direction of Joe P. Sauve was formed. The Sawmill Committee has been doing a big business for their benefit, which accounts for the men being needed on Sunday.

SIGNS MAY MEAN EARLY SPRING

The wood haulers are taking advantage of the recent fall of snow to draw home their wagons, knowing what the weather will do next.

It is so icy that practically all hauling was at a standstill.

Nature rendering good our winter's work, and saws a big into boards for the coming winter.

At the end of the day, the men showing considerable signs of fatigue, but never refused a dance.

George Wilson, who with the separation from their wives, had a hard time, was able to say, "God bless the ladies."

So, in the waning hours of the morning came to a close one of the happiest evenings spent at the hall in a long time.

APPOINTED BANDMASTER

Mr. Harold Ford has been appointed bandmaster for 1938 and that he made a good start on the 19th day without a hitch.

He is interested in some property and hopes to renew old acquaintance with Mr. Chapman, who settled with him, and will be glad to see him here and returned to his farm down south three years ago.

IMPROVISED XMAS CONCERT

Last evening we forgot to mention the Christmas entertainment held at the school. Due to the teacher's illness, the regular program had to be abandoned and the students were more or less at a loss.

Credit is due the board, and also Mr. Hunt, by having to make the long drive to attend and for so helping with the program.

ENGAGED AS TEACHER

Mrs. J. Clarkson has been engaged to teach Bezançon school, due to the continued illness of the regular teacher, Miss Bourassa.

HALL DANCE JANUARY 10

The next dance at the hall will be held on January 10, dance to start at 9 o'clock. We might now remind you that the ladies will be holding a bazaar on the preceding evening. Your Christmas number would be a credit to any town in Alberta, even with a population double that of Grande Prairie.

BEZANSON NEWS

LEAP YEAR DANCE A DANDY

BEZANSON, Jan. 3.—The Leap Year dance held at the hall on December 31 was a dandy. The hall was filled with people and the girls will not believe there is a depression or that crops ever freeze. Suffice it to say there was not one dull moment during the entire night.

Before supper quite a number of the guests were more or less afraid that after supper they would be beautiful flowers, but such was not the case.

At supper time the general manager, Wm. Ford, turned the management of the hall over to Mr. and Mrs. M. Lewis or Lindsay was at once appointed floor manager, and did she make a success of her appointment or not? Let me tell you she did. In her first class as a bell she called each number, and as each dance was called there was a smile on her face. She was a natural dancer and, strange to say, it was the older couples that were most popular. The younger ones had some busy times as well. At one time Ed Leslie, tongue was protruding from his mouth, was dancing with a girl who was showing considerable signs of fatigue, but she was a good dancer. George Wilson, who was in charge of the hall, was not the type to say, "Get the ladies out." He was very refused a dance.

ILLUSTRATED NEWS OF THE WEEK -

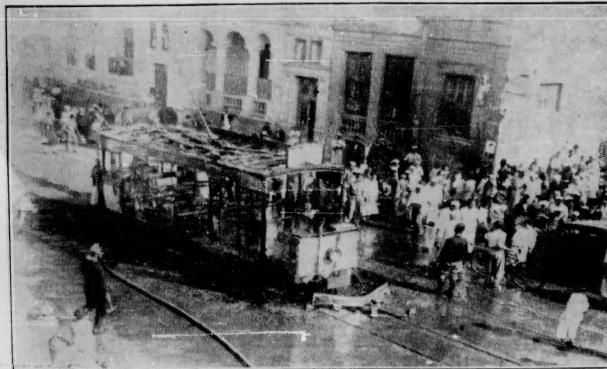

MUSSOLINI AND HIS AIDES IN SERIOUS MIEN

Apparently Il Duce and his Fascist government are feeling very seriously the situation in Italy. Here is a picture of them attending the presentation of prizes at the National Grain Competition, but by the look on their faces, it might have been a funeral.

PREPARING FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Maxi Harber, the German skating champion who charmed Canadian enthusiasts last year with her beautiful skating, is shown above practising at Germisch Partenkirchen for the Olympic Games.

RIOTING EGYPTIAN STUDENTS VENT THEIR IRE ON STREET CARS

This is all that was left of a Cairo street car after rioting students had wrecked it and set it on fire. Several British police officers were wounded in the clashes, but with the promise of a new constitution the Egyptians have quieted down.

RECORDS ARE FALLING FAST

So many records are being made by Canadian cows these days that it is hard to keep track of them. Here is Springtime Show Countess, sixteen-year-old Canadian Holstein cow, which recently lost the title of World's Champion Lifetime Butter-fat producer to the American Queen. She has just quashed another record by setting a record of 18,991 pounds of milk and 822 pounds of fat to regain her crown by a considerable margin. Bred and owned by T. R. Dent, Woodstock, Ontario, she has produced for him in ten lactations 9,062 pounds of fat from 207,000 pounds of milk.

Morlock quadruplets celebrate Christmas

Identical presents, including two drums apiece, thrilled the hearts of the Morlock quadruplets of Lansing, Michigan, when they celebrated the Christmas season in their home. Shown beside their big tree are, top to bottom: Helen, Wilma, Sarah and Edna, five years old.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS

Use Throughout Canada Is Recommended By Montreal Citizen

Use of identification cards for citizens throughout Canada was recommended by Brig. General E. de Panet, president of Montreal unemployed relief committee.

Such a scheme, he told members of the City Improvement League, would aid greatly in such problems as registering voters, finding suitable persons at polling booths, and would also serve in the nature of a prospect within the country.

What One Girl Wore:

By Betty Brownlee

Delicate chiffons, pleated all over and carrying about them an air of charm and grace, are a command note in fashions for early year, and in daytime ensembles to be worn at Southern resorts. As far as the evening gown is concerned, however, there is surely no lovelier picture than the sight of a pretty girl floating about the ballroom amidst a swirl of wispy chiffons, sequins and fairytale pastels. Gowns of this type are becoming increasingly popular.

For Southern resort wear, the flowered chiffons take precedence in gay little ensembles for those afternoons when you want to "dress up." Such an ensemble is illustrated today. The print itself is charming, being a pastel beige with a small design in black and red. It is pleated all over except for the shoulder yoke, with its caplet sleeves and a belt at the waist. The skirt is circular below the hips and the jacket is short, quite flared at the back and trimmed with rich cuffs of black fox.

ON COUNCIL

W. Gray, who has been associated with the Nova Scotia steel and coal industry for many years, and since 1909, will represent mining on the Economic Council appointed by Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia to assist the government.

BILL THOMAS

Here is a close-up of Bill Thomas of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who is scoring with the leaders this year. A tireless player and a good checker, Bill improves each year.

The value of the principal field crops of Canada in 1935 is estimated at $510,835,600. This is $8,581,100, or 1.7 per cent, above the estimated value of the field crops of 1934.

Exports of Canadian bacon during the first nine months of 1935 totalled nearly 100,000,000 pounds, with a value of $15,750,171, a gain of about one million dollars over the same period of 1934.

A seven-leaf clover has been discovered by scientists.

"It's simply impossible to find an honest maid. The last one I had stole two of my dresses."

"Which were they?"

"The silk ones I smuggled over from Paris."

A SPECIAL TRIBUNE FEATURE THE BEST OF THE WEEK'S INTERESTING NEWS PICTURES

Expressing their opposition to the return of Mexico of former President Plutarco Elias Calles, more than 100,000 persons marched the streets of Mexico City and then massed in the square, top, as President Lazaro Cardenas watched the demonstration from the balcony of the national palace.

THE FRENCH DELEGATION TO THE NAVAL PARLEY

PLAYING WELL WITH AMERICANS

When the New York Americans recalled Wiseman from the minor leagues they did a real stroke of genius. Before leaving the N.L., Wiseman played for Detroit Red Wings, and since his return to the Americans he has had an exceptionally good year. A very fast skater, he is very good at engineering attacks, and is well worth a place in the big league.

Business Men Co-operate With Curling Club to Make The Bonspiel the Best Ever

SEXSMITH, Jan. 9.—The business men and citizens in general are co-operating with the Curling Club in every way to make the big Annual Bonspiel a success on January 14 to 17, inclusive, one of the best—if not the best—ever held in Sexsmith. This is the third year the curling club has held its annual bonspiel and that is just what the Curling Club has set out to do.

Ample provision is being made for entertainment and housing the many ranks and visitors expected during the Bonspiel. In brief Sexsmith stands ready to welcome you and to make your stay here a pleasant one.

There will be three competitions: Grand Challenge, Citizens' competition and Prairie Curling Cup, which is the old cup.

The curling club has also special prizes of four cakes, donated by Jim Walker.

Entertainment other than curling will be provided during the week.

A play will be staged by the Curling Club in the Grand Theatre on the night of January 16.

The management of the Grand Theatre are cooperating and have arranged to bring in a special feature picture for the week, entitled "Bulldog Drummond."

Prizes offered in the Bonspiel competitions are all well worth playing for.

Make it a point to set aside the Sexsmith Bonspiel dates and visit the town. Enjoy Sexsmith's well known hotel, the Royal, the Bremen, etc.

(Details regarding competitions and prizes are on the front page of this paper.)

BENEDICTS AND SINGLE MEN TANGLE UP IN HOCKEY GAME

And "Woh! Woh! Well!" as the radio announcer would say. On New Year's Day the single men of Sexsmith daved the married men to meet them in a game of hockey on the ice rink. At first this did not look so good to the bachelors, as they figured that the single men would be composed of the husbands of the King's Cup, which would "not be so good." They were pleasantly surprised when lining up on the ice to find that the older, more experienced majority of the junior team, who were without a shadow of a doubt, were the better players.

Some of the married men had not even been to the game so long—if they were ever in it—that they put it some distance from football and golf, and what they lacked in quality they made up in quantity, there being at some periods of the game as many as twelve players on their side. As little error was overlooked.

One of the big games of the game was set between Cameron and Nixon line up with the married men. Both these men had been considered the best players in Sexsmith, and when they lined up with the old fogies caused quite a drop in the barometer, as far as the girls were concerned.

However, girls, do not be too down hearted, as it may all turn out to be a ghostly match.

The married men put on a power play, five would go over the top first, then four more would follow up to the goal. The score was 8 to 5 in favor of the bachelors.

As Old Casper said, referring to the Battle of Blenheim, "We was a famous victory."

ORCHESTRA PROVED BIG SUCCESS AT MCLENNAN

Kirstein Bros. orchestra left by car on Monday night, December 29, for McLean's Inn, where they were to play on New Year's Eve, also for a dance on the night of January 1. The hall was packed to full capacity. Such a good thing for Bill that in the usual course of events this only happens once in a lifetime.

After the dance, dancing was indulged in until an early hour Monday morning.

The newlyweds were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

TAKING HAIRDRESSING COURSE

Miss Lenora Foster, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weicker, left for Edmonton on last Friday's train to take a six-months course at the Capitol Hairdressing School, where she will learn to specialize in all other things pertaining to the "gilding of the telly."

MANY AT W. I. NEW YEAR DANCE

The New Year's Eve dance at the Grand Theatre, under the auspices of the Women's Institute of Sexsmith, was a well attended and apparently good time was experienced by all who attended. Lunch was served at around midnight, after which dancing was resumed until about 12 o'clock in the morning. Pension's orchestra supplied the music.

LEAVE FOR HONOLULU

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weicker left on Friday's train for Vancouver, where they will sail on the C. P. liner "Empress of Russia" on January 9, for Honolulu, where they expect to stay a few months.

Holiday Inn "Hawaiian" took several Hawaiian music lessons and was pretty well up on "Aloha" before leaving.

Mr. Roy Breant is managing the hotel in the meantime.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 8.—Police searched all Cairo today for an unidentified Egyptian who fired at an auto carrying a British officer and his wife. No one was hit, but the gunman escaped in the confusion.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Conrad were elected to fill the vacancy in Literary convention ship.

The next meeting will be on Monday, January 30.

CELEBRATES DOUBLE EVENT

On Sunday, December 22, the home of Wm. Balisky, west of town, was the scene of much merriment and "what else?"
